

Manuel Vigo

CERN
3179/R-C03
CH-1211 Geneva 23,
Switzerland
M: + 34 696 923 570
manuel.vigo@gmail.com

Profile

I focus on driving innovation through design research and strategy. My academic background is in design methodologies, philosophy, and international relations. I'm currently working at IdeaSquare, CERN's innovation lab in Geneva, while finishing my masters thesis. My professional goal is to help organizations innovate through a user-centered approach. I value multidisciplinary and cross-cultural teams and have been fortunate to live and work on 4 continents.

Experience

Design and Innovation Intern, CERN: The European Organization for Nuclear Research – September 2017 - Present

- Making connections between the CERN scientific community and society (innovators, students, humanitarian organizations, computer scientists, designers, and other multidisciplinary teams).
- Hosting and Facilitating Design Thinking and Collaborative Design workshops for multidisciplinary teams.
- Helping to match CERN detector R&D technologies with societal challenges and opportunities.

Marketing & UX Manager , Latin America For Less – June 2013 - December 2016

- Leading 9-person digital marketing, content, and web development teams.
- Managed web redesign for PeruForLess.com, overseeing design, user experience, SEO, PPC advertising. Leading to conversion rate improvements of over 59%.
- Leading digital platforms creation for internal teams and processes.
- Managed new brand projects, and led the company's winning proposal for PeruDesignNet, a competition honoring innovative ideas.
- Hired and managed external SEO and PPC consultants, and executed strategies.

Writer & Researcher, Next City – January – October 2013

- Researched and wrote a weekly article series on Lima's informal economy for The Rockefeller Foundation's Informal City Dialogues.
- Part of Future Scenarios conferences in Lima, helping participants build a framework for understanding the next decades of Lima's growth.

News Editor, Peru This Week – July 2011 - June 2013

- News editor for Peru's foremost English-language news platform. Over 1,800 articles written.
- Edited and researched business, economic, political, and cultural trends.

Education

IED Istituto Europeo di Design - Barcelona - Master in Design Management January 2017 - Present
Florida International University - BA. in International Relations and Philosophy 2007 – 2010

Skills

Multimedia editing (Ableton Live, Audacity, Logic Pro, Final Cut Pro); Google Analytics Fundamentals Certificate; advanced SEO knowledge.

Hobbies

I play guitar and enjoy playing and recording music with friends. An avid reader, I enjoy all types of fiction and non-fiction. I think curiosity is my biggest driver, and love learning new things.